New Year's Sermons.

The first Sabbath in this new year was signalized yesterday by ministers and people with a new departure. Grand purposes for the future were outlined and the progress of the past served as motives to inspire greater faith and more diligent labor in the year to come. Sermons especially appropriate to the new year were preached in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, Yorkville, by Rev. W. R. Carroll; in Seventh Avenue Presbyterian church by Rev. S. H. Graham; in Trinity Baptist church by Rev. Dr. Holmes; in Twenty-fifth street Presbyterian church by Rev. J. S. Stewart; in the Church of the Disciples by Rev. George H. Hopworth, and in the Catholic churches, wherein the festival of the Epiphany is to be celebrated to-day.

Mr. Hopworth's sermon was a thanksgiving to God for the progress of his congregation during the year past, and a pledge of greater prospect through greater devotion to Jesus Christ during the year to come. He would have his people keep step with Old Time in his march, and let every year carry them nearer to God. Time should be measured by experience and by duty well performed. No man, said Mr. Hopworth, is sure of Heaven who is simply passing pure. He must save others. He must go forth into the world, lifting the down-trodden and speaking to the erring and the wayward with the authority of God to win them to Christ, without whom our lives would be spiritual Sahara without an oasis. How strangely these truths fell upon many ears and many hearts a year ago! How sweetly and comfortably they came now from a heart made green and beauteous by the overflows of the pure river of water of life beside which this minister of Christ has sat now for a year. May not 1874 bring with it a richer and holier experience in the things of God to both pastor and people? It will if the consecration is perfect and complete.

Mr. Stewart recited some of the strange things which the world had witnessed during the years past, such as the progress of civilization and Christianity in China; the emancipation of serfs in Russia and of slaves in the United States; the position which woman is taking, not only in this country but in every other; the creation of a public sentiment in favor of mercy to our dumb friends, and the death of eminent representatives of the professions of journalism, art, the drama, historians, sacred and secular, and ministers of the Gospel. While Mr. Stewart gave his meed of praise to this progressive age he feared that the Church is drifting too much towards liberalism. But he preferred liberalism to bigotry; and so do we. Better, far better, to live in an age like the present than in any that has preceded it since God made man upon the earth.

Mr. Carroll considered man physiologically and spiritually and intellectually, and presented his case to invite his hearers to consider the destiny to which they are hurrying. The past is constantly teaching the future, and the congregation were directed to the mortuary statistics of the year, to the facts which indicate an increase of crime, and, in view of these things, they were asked to remember the days of old, and to exert themselves still more than they had in God's service in the time to come.

Mr. Graham believed that the past year was one fraught with events as marvellous as any that he could remember, and yet it had brought many blessings with it. Looking over the past he saw a great deal to be done in the future. The great evil of the times he conceived to be a lack of faith and morality based on the true principles of Christian doctrine, without which religion is only a myth and morality an imaginary thing.

Dr. Holmes saw life as a railroad and men as engines running along it and driven by the force of habit and character on the road to heaven or to perdition according to the direction given to their character, and with an ever increasing momentum. But even engines have stopping places, where they take in fuel and water; so have men stopping places, and the New Year is one of them. The young were, therefore, warned and urged to consider their ways and to cease to do evil and learn to do well.

Dr. McGlynn preached an admirable sermon on the Epiphany and its lessons, and urged this as an excellent time for the millions to come and worship their God. He regretted that, as in the days of old, too few avail themselves of the guiding star which leads to the manger and to the cross, and too many, while they know where the Saviour is, tarry in coming to prostrate themselves before Him. Too many there are who would stifle the heavenly infant for the sake of retaining the poor, perishable things of this world. Dr. Starr also preached an Epiphany sermon. He looked upon Christ's manifestation of His divinity as one of the most important benefits conferred upon man. Creation itself cannot be compared with it. The Doctor elaborated this thought, and showed the importance of this fact in its relation to others, and then called upon his hearers to examine themselves and to follow the Saviour more closely this year than they had followed him in the past.

In a philosophical examination of the faculties of the human mind Mr. Beecher yesterday endeavored to illustrate and to demonstrate how we may at length come to know the love of Christ which passeth the lower knowledge of our nature. We come to know Christ by allying ourselves to His nature. Just as much as is Godlike in us responds to that which is Godlike, so that we become as sensible of the presence of God as the barometer is sensitive to the pressure of the atmosphere. Mr. Beecher sees unmistakable signs that this age is drifting toward atheism. But has he done what he could to stay the drift? Do not those philosophical and semi-scientific essays and sensation sermons that we hear and read so often in many pulpits tend to draw men away from the simplicity of the Gospel and into atheism or deism or nothingness?

Dr. Ormiston preached to a Brooklyn congregation yesterday on the divinity, priesthood, triumph and reign of righteousness of our Lord Jesus Christ. These discourses may be read to-day with profit.

CITY HOTELS AND THEIR DANGERS FROM FIRES.—A reporter's tour of inspection among the hotels of New York reveals the fact that several of them lodge their servants at the top of a high house, whence there is not the ghost of a chance to escape alive in case a fire should occur in the one staircase leading to the loft. It certainly behooves the keepers of hotels to make those provisions which humanity requires for the safety of servants as well as guests, and the Fire Marshal and Superintendent of Buildings owe it to the community and the travelling public to enforce strictly the law, which requires ample fire escapes, especially on buildings liable to be thronged with lodgers. If the burned child dreads the fire it is time for New York to institute prompt measures to prevent the recurrence of the terrible scenes of the past month.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. Columbus Delano, Secretary of the Interior, is visiting at Matanzas.

Mrs. Harrison G. Otis, of Boston, is in a precarious state of health.

George A. Edes, Collector of Customs, District of Alaska, has resigned.

Miss H. Edes has been placed in the position of managing editor of the Richmond Dispatch.

The trial of Mrs. Wharton for attempting to poison will commence to-day in Annapolis, Md.

Over one-half of the members of the Kellogg Legislature of Louisiana can neither read nor write.

Ex-Governor L. B. Church, of Montana, and N. C. Gunsett, of Texas, are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Ebenezer Cogswell has tolled the church bell in Derry, N. H., for two thousand funerals in thirty-two years.

Major Pauline Cushman, one of the heroines of the rebellion, is lying quite sick at Virginia City, Nevada Territory.

William H. Applewall, of this city, is in Egypt, with his family and several friends. They are about to ascend the Nile.

The opinion is very prevalent that Dr. Cornelius A. Logan will beat Samuel C. Pomeroy in the race for the Kansas United States Senatorship.

Governor Smith, of Georgia, will refuse to be inaugurated for his second term until after the Legislature raises the salary to $10,000 a year.

H. Conquest Clarke has resigned his position as Secretary of the City Council of New Orleans. Mr. Clarke was formerly a reporter in this city.

Fred Douglas calls J. Sella Martin a miserable subterfuge for a colored man, and Martin calls Fred a cross and crazy old nigger. "Pot calling kettle black."

Rev. John Erell, pastor of the Macedonian Baptist church, near Lexington Springs, Spartenburg county, S. C., has gone to Albany, N. Y., where he has been recommended to sojourn for five years in order to get cured of an attack of Ku Klux.

Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, who was married to Jerome Bonaparte, the youngest brother of Napoleon Bonaparte, on the 24th of December, 1803, sixty-nine years ago, is now lying at the point of death in Baltimore. She is now about eighty-eight years old.

Among the passengers for Cuba on the steamship City of Havana, that sailed on Saturday, were the Earl and Countess of Cathness, Count de Pomar and Lady Fanny Sinclair. These nobles had been in this city for the past six weeks. They stopped at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where the Earl was an active assistant of the firemen during the late fire. The Earl of Cathness, who is a Scotchman, is a man of science and an inventor, whose practical mind is highly appreciated "over the pond."

The term of service of Hon. Thomas W. Osborn as United States Senator from Florida will expire with the present Congress. Among those who aspire to the position are Chief Justice Randall, brother of ex-Postmaster General Randall; Horatio Jenkins, Jr.; Harrison Reed, the present Governor of the State; John Tyler, son of the late ex-President Tyler; General Sanford, and F. A. Dockrill, formerly Collector of the Port of Jacksonville. All these are white men. Among the negro candidates for the Senate are Senator McCham, of Jefferson, and Benjamin Smith, of Turkey. There are other portions of the State yet to hear from.

THE LOUISIANA TROUBLES.

Business to be Resumed To-day.—The Attorney General to Take All Proper Steps to Maintain Peace.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5, 1873.

A private despatch from New Orleans states that all business will be suspended to-morrow and that the conservatives or fusion Legislature will assemble.

A number of prominent citizens of Louisiana, now in Washington, apprehending danger of collision between the contending political parties, called on the Attorney General to-day and entreated him to initiate such measures as would guard against such a result. They were informed in reply that the subject was under consideration by the executive authorities, and that all proper steps would be taken to preserve the peace.

MUSICAL AND THEATRICAL NOTES.

The London papers have discovered that Mr. "George" Emmett, who is playing Fritz in that capital, is a grandson of the brother of Robert Emmett.

Mr. Devries' success in Paris as Ophelia, in "Ambrose Thomas' Hamlet," has become even more decided since her debut in the part.

The name of M. Sardou's play, the scene of which is laid in this country, is "L'Oncle Sam." We wonder whether our French friend won't wish he had his uncle alone before he gets through with him.

Mr. Charles Mathews will not appear in London until Monday, June 9, when he will play at the Gaiety in "The Liar" and "Patter vs. Clatter."

At Mr. Gounod's first choir concert no less than eight of his compositions will be performed for the first time, including a pater noster, a requiem, a chorus, "Omni potent Lord," besides secular works.

Mr. Ormiston has, it is said, bought the Theatre de la Gaité for 300,000 francs. It will reopen under his management as a Theatre Lyrique.

LEATHER FRAUDS IN NEWARK.

Henry Helfrecht and Otto Bender, two German shawl strap makers of Newark, and now in the City Prison there on very grave charges, from statements and affidavits made before Justice Mills, it appears they have procured by false representations about their business solvency large quantities of leather from various manufacturers, who are now in the belief that they have been badly deceived.

Mr. Ichabod W. Dawson, member of an old leather firm, on whose complaint the accused have been arrested to answer a charge of fraud, states that they came to his place and represented that they had a perfectly solvent business, $40,000 being involved in it clear of all obligations. Besides this they had, they said, some real estate. Hence they were given leather on credit to the amount of $150. Subsequently they got the leather, and about the time they got the leather, as is believed, also the real estate. A Mr. Cohen, who keeps a fancy store on Broad street, in Newark, and who is a partner in the firm, states that he was deceived by the same parties to turn up as creditors as well. All the facts in the case are considered by the court as strong evidence of intentional fraud on the part of the prisoners. They are held in default of $2,000 bail each. Messrs. Dawson and Cohen had already commenced civil suits against them to recover their monies.
